

JEFFREY WEBER

Producer

History: Jeffrey Weber is a twenty-five year music industry professional. He has produced over 135 CDs with releases on just about every major label as well as a host of independent labels. Along the way, his projects have yielded two Grammys, seven Grammy nominations, at least seventeen top ten albums, two number one albums and an assortment of other honors.

Among the many artists that have fallen under the banner of "Produced by..." include: Nancy Wilson, David Benoit, Steve Lukather, the Utah Symphony, Jackson Browne, Marcus Miller, Michael McDonald, Bill Champlin, Gerald Albright, Tom Scott, Chick Corea, Stanley Clark, Etta James, Linda Hopkins, Kenny Burrell, McCoy Tyner, Jackie McLean, Billy Sheehan (Mr. Big), Cozy Powell, the Count Basie Orchestra, John Sebastian, Ronnie Dio, Ritchie Blackmore, Pat Boone, Buddy Miles, Billy Preston, Kenny Rankin, Diane Reeves, Diane Schuur, Rita Coolidge, Luther Vandross, David Crosby, Simon Phillips, Jeff Porcaro, Patrice Rushen, Toni Tennille, among many others. Jeff continues to be very active, producing an average of six projects per year.

Jeff co-founded and continues to program Studio M, a nationwide broadcast television network that utilizes their growing 28,000 music video library to broadcast multiple genre based music video shows. It is currently on the air seven days a week, for five hours a day to an estimated audience of thirty million homes.

During his twenty-five year career, he has founded, ran or participated in various label capacities from A&R, Production, Interactive Programming, Marketing, Sales, International Relations, Business Affairs and Art Director for independent labels such as Discwasher Records, Prima Records, Beach Jazz, Agenda Records, Denon Records, Handshake Records, Audio Source Records, Voss Records, Video Arts, Clear Audio, Pony Canyon, P.C.H. Records, En Pointe Records, Cameron Records as well as his own labels, Weberworks and Stark

Raving Records. His productions have also appeared on every major label including MCA, Warner Bros., Atlantic, BMG, Columbia, A&M, Elektra as well as such labels as GRP, Hip-O, Sheffield, Concord, Bainbridge, Silver Eagle, Zebra, among countless others.

In addition to music production, Jeff has spent over fifteen years behind the microphone as a voice-over talent for commercials, cartoons, industrial films, infomercials, live web-broadcasting, and television. He has done voice work for Interscope (Guns & Roses), Toyota, Nissan, Ford, VR Troopers, the Ventura County Star newspaper chain, Play It Again Sports, Sony, Boston Acoustics, Audio Source, the BBC, the Jazz Network, Dejaun Jewelers, CBS and Warner Bros., among countless others. He continues to be extremely active in this field.

Jeff has also worked with companies such as Global Music One, Media X and Music Co.JP developing content and marketing tools for the convergence of music and emerging technology, most specifically dealing with the changing face of physical and non-physical based music distribution.

Jeff is well known for his involvement in high technology recording techniques, especially live two track recording, live multi-track and digital recording. Because of their sonic excellence, his recordings have been repeatedly selected by major hardware manufacturers (Sony, Toshiba, Threshold, Boston Acoustics, Jeff Rowland, Martin-Logan, Psion, to name a few), to demonstrate their product lines.

Well versed in video production, Jeff has written, produced and directed over two dozen music videos. He has been a music journalist with articles in major industry publications nationwide. He has received numerous awards as an art director and many of his album cover designs have been published in "Best of..." annual publications.

As an educator, Jeff has taught courses on the music industry at universities and law schools across the country.

Jeff is a former member of the Board of Governors of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences (NARAS) as well as a former National Trustee and Chapter Vice President. Jeff was at Capitol studios with 17 year old English pop singer Zoe who recently signed a 5.1 surround sound deal with DTS. Also at Capitol, Jeff recently produced jazz composer/pianist Paul Herder's latest CD "Meeting Life".